Building Jewish Connections -
- In the Bible and Today

Lee Gavens

Deuteronomy 3:18-20
At that time I charged you, saying, "The Lord your G-d has given you this country to possess. You must go as shock-troops, warriors all, at the head of your Israelite kinsmen. Only your wives, children, and livestock -- I know that you have much livestock -- shall be left in the towns I have assigned to you, until the Lord has granted your kinsmen a haven such as you have, and they too have taken possession of the land that the Lord your G-d is assigning them, beyond the Jordan. Then you may return each to the homestead that I have assigned to him."

Moses helped maintain connections between the tribes on the east and west banks of the Jordan River by placing members of the tribe of Manasseh on both sides of the Jordan. In contemporary times we can help build connections within the diverse worldwide Jewish community by providing opportunities for Jewish individuals to develop meaningful relationships with one another in a Jewish context. Experiencing meaningful individual relationships is the starting point for building commitment to the broader Jewish community. The Jewish Peoplehood concept provides a framework for discussing and developing programs that promote connections within the Jewish community.

New Induction Loop Helps Hearing Aid Users

If you are one of the many Beth David members that uses a hearing aid or has a cochlear implant with a telecoil or T-switch, you may benefit from an improvement that was made to the Beth David Sanctuary and right side of the Social Hall when facing the stage. Thanks to combined donations, these two parts of the building were recently "looped," which means a copper wire was installed around the perimeters of the rooms and connected to the sound system and an amplifier. Next time you are at Beth David, if you sit within the looped areas and your T-Switch is turned on, the audio signal from the microphone will be transmitted directly to your ear.
Thank you Beth David for making our services and programs Hearing Aid friendly.- Lynne Kinsey
